

YACHT BURNED IN SOUND AS WAVES UPSET STOVE

Henry B. Newman's Eleven H.
Destroyed—Owner, Wife and Three Others Rescued.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 29.—(By AP wire.) A fire when a choppy sea upset a barbecue stove, the motor cruiser Eleven H., owned by Henry B. Newman, a silk manufacturer of No. 100 West Forty-seventh street, New York, in a brief loss off Great Captain's Island, and Mr. and Mrs. Newman are missing. The Newmans, two Chicago guests and Skipper James Macdonald were on their way to Stamford for the week end, and were about five miles out when the stove was upset.

The men and Mrs. Newman fought the flames for a few minutes, but it was useless. A small power launch, the ship's safety complement, was lowered, and the five persons got in.
They started to make for Stamford.
The party was desperately fighting its way through the waves, struggling by a heavy haze, when Capt. William F. Mills of the cutter Craft Gallop saw their danger and came to the rescue.
Capt. Mills took the rescued party into the Indian Harbor Yacht Club landing, where physicians were called.

It was found that no one was badly injured, but that Mrs. Newman was suffering from shock.
The Eleven H. was fully powered and was carrying a full crew of seven men. Mrs. Newman was William F. Arnold is dead.
William F. Arnold, vice president and treasurer of the City National Bank, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and his family, were killed Tuesday night and early this morning. His wife, Mrs. Arnold, was injured in the shooting. Mr. Arnold was shot in the chest, and his body was found in the water. His daughter, Miss Arnold, was also injured.

THREE "GO GET 'EMS" HELD FOR SHOOTING

Police Find No Victim, but Arrest Men at Corner After Hearing Shots.

Three members of the "Go Get 'Em" club, holding tickets to a dance on Oct. 1 at No. 104 West Twenty-first street, were taken to Police Headquarters early today following a suspicious shooting at Seventh Avenue and Twenty-eighth street.

A traffic policeman heard three shots at 1 o'clock and found Emmet Wallace, a life guard, of No. 210 Eighty Avenue, Man. Boulevard, a driver, of No. 331 West Twenty-first street, and William Leary, a chauffeur, of No. 210 Eighty Avenue. Two detectives found two revolvers, one recently fired, in an alleyway.
The three men denied they knew anything of any shooting. They were taken to Headquarters charged with having a revolver at an unknown place.

The September

AEOLIAN SALE of PIANOS & PIANOLAS

This remarkable bargain event closes Tomorrow, Saturday evening

COME in and look over the pianos and players specially priced during this September sale, and you will be very glad, indeed, that you didn't allow this opportunity to slip by.

Every instrument has been further reduced for these last days, for we wish not one to remain.

The pianos were taken in exchange for the Pianola.
They average unusually high in quality—there is scarcely a make of instrument on the floors that is not well and favorably known to you.

The Pianolas and other player-pianos came to us in part payment for Grand Pianolas, the new Duo-Art Pianola, etc. They are fine types of instruments.

All pianos and players were overhauled by our own expert repairmen and tone regulators; all Pianolas rebuilt in the factories in which they were made.

The Aeolian guarantee with every instrument is the final assurance of quality.

THE PIANOS

Whatever the price you wish to pay, you will surely find a variety of instruments at that price.

UPRIGHTS and Grands in such number that every angle of preference may be met and satisfied. Steinway, Weber, Steck, Knabe,
Wheelock, Chickering,
Sohmer, Stuyvesant, Kranich & Bach, Pease
—these and many other makes famous for their musical quality are represented. Thorough reconstruction by our experts, means satisfaction such as might be expected only from new instruments. This is the chance of the year to purchase a delightful and serviceable piano at far below normal cost.

Remember that the September Aeolian Sale is the most important musical instrument sale of the year. And these final days present some of its greatest bargains.

It is unusual to find such player instruments as these in a sale.
You could not possibly buy players of equal musical and technical quality for less than 50% to 100% more than these are priced.

For the convenience of our patrons in Brooklyn a complete stock of these specially priced instruments are displayed at Aeolian Hall in Brooklyn.
